Annual General Meeting this Saturday

The Annual General Meeting will be held this Saturday at 5.00pm. Margaret Lacey, author of Birds of Aireys Inlet on the Great Ocean Road and Community Garden member is our guest speaker. Join us – on zoom - for an informative conversation with Margaret. The papers for the Annual Meeting were sent on 20 September. Remember you need to register to receive the zoom link.

Working bee this Saturday

The September 20 working bee was a great success with a lot achieved and the chance to catch up with a few people. Unfortunately we are still restricted to 10 people in the garden, but with the door accountant outside the gate, we can have an extra person participating!

At the next working bee on Saturday October 3 we will operate with two sessions:

- 9.30–11am (the early birds)
- 11am–12.30pm (the busy bees)

We would like you to put your name down on the whiteboard for your preferred shift. This will help us ensure that a maximum of only ten people attend each session. (But you can just come along and see if there's room for you to join in or a job outside the fence)

Strict hygiene and physical distancing will continue to apply and we ask you to bring your own gloves and weeding tools. We won't be returning at this stage to a shared morning tea, but hope you will enjoy the camaraderie of a shared job done.

There will be more produce to share, weeds to pull, compost to turn, things to plant and garden friends to see.

Also, the garden team has been busy raising seeds so come along to help potting up tomatoes for your own garden or plot. We hope to also pot up any surplus to leave for the community at the shop.

If anyone has suitable small empty pots to spare, please bring them along or leave them at the garden.

See you in the garden.
